

14 July 2008

Liberals reach out to grassroots experts for seniors policy

Liberal Party Seniors Spokesperson Tony Simpson has announced a forum on seniors policy at State Parliament House.

This forum, to be held on Wednesday, is designed to provide groups operating at the grass roots of retirement and seniors policy with a chance to discuss issues in this area with those members of the Liberal team involved in this portfolio.

Attendees from the Liberal side will include Parliamentary Leader Troy Buswell and members of his policy team.

“I believe that the only way to develop sensible policies is to talk to those that deal with the problems that they are meant to solve and the affects that they will have on our community,” said Mr Simpson.

The groups that will be in attendance include:

- Council on the Ageing WA;
- National Seniors;
- Retirees WA;
- The Western Australian Retirement Complexes Residents Association; and
- Representatives of retirement village residents.

“It is my hope that through a meaningful discussion with these groups as well as ongoing community feedback, the Liberal Party can take the best possible policies for seniors to the next election.”

---